1) Programme description

Human rights defenders play a vital role in pushing for sustainable human rights improvements. A free and vibrant civil society is essential to ensure States, businesses and other non-State actors respect, protect and fulfil all human rights for all and to hold them to account when they fail to do so.

The International Service for Human Rights (ISHR) conducts regular training courses on the use of the main human rights mechanisms, including the Human Rights Council, the UN Special Procedures, the UN Treaty Bodies and the Universal Periodic Review (UPR). The annual Human Rights Defenders Advocacy Programme, \(HRDAP\) equips human rights defenders with the knowledge and skills to integrate the system into their existing work at the national level in a strategic manner. The programme also provides an opportunity for participants to engage in lobbying and advocacy activities at the UN with the aim to effect change back home.

¹ Please note that these dates can be subject to change.

For the first time, ISHR will propose a hybrid HRDAP, combining an interactive distance-learning course with in-person training in Geneva to enhance knowledge and practice.

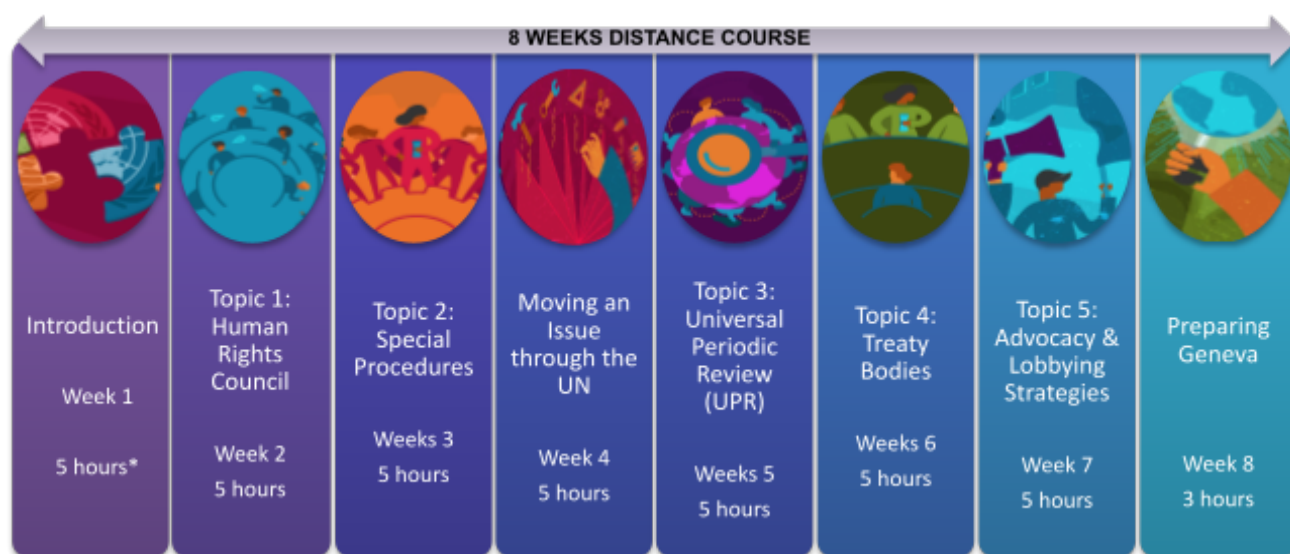

If you wish to discover the outcomes of HRDAP22 and see what participants did, click here.

2) Hybrid Learning Course (online, 17 April – 7 June 2023 and in-person 14 - 24 June 2023)

The HRDAP Hybrid Learning Course allows activists to benefit from tailored, long-term advocacy coaching and support, enabling them to develop their knowledge and skills, as well as an “Advocacy strategy roadmap”, to make strategic use of the international human rights system in their national advocacy strategies.

The HRDAP23 programme consists of the following elements:

- a) A 8-week distance learning course to support participants to consolidate existing knowledge and develop advocacy objectives, which includes access to:
 - ✓ The HRDAP Platform, where you can access interactive learning materials including e-learning courses on each key UN human rights mechanism (the Human Rights Council; the Special Procedures; the Treaty Bodies; the Universal Periodic Review) and on advocacy and lobbying strategies
 - ✓ Interactive learning materials and case studies on the ISHR Academy
 - ✓ Live Q&A sessions with human rights experts
 - ✓ Other tools and resources to support defenders’ advocacy work

*Approximate number of study hours

- b) An intensive in-person training of 10 days to finalise a personalised advocacy roadmap, enhance knowledge, skills, attitude and confidence, which will include:
 - ✓ Refreshers on each UN Human Rights Mechanisms
 - ✓ Additional sessions on how to address reprisals, crafting effective narrative at the UN, how to implement UN recommendations at the domestic level or wellbeing
 - ✓ Case-studies scenarios to practise real-life situations and submissions
 - ✓ Workshops on how to engage and take action as Human Rights Defenders to influence outcomes of the Human Right Council sessions
 - ✓ Exclusive sessions with diplomats, experts, NGOs and UN Mandates holders
 - ✓ Sharing stories of good practices

All along the course, defenders will:

- c) Receive continuous advocacy support and coaching, focusing on ways to use international human rights mechanisms effectively and to influence outcomes:
 - ✓ Receive individual support from ISHR's Training and Advocacy Support Manager, throughout the duration of the course
 - ✓ Each participant will receive individual and group coaching sessions with a dedicated ISHR staff, through regular meetings held via videoconference and in-person as well
 - ✓ Complete individual assignments in order to develop an "Advocacy Roadmap" (concrete advocacy objectives as a part of a theory of change) and receive individual feedback and coaching on each submission from a dedicated coach
- d) Be part of a global community of human rights defenders:
 - ✓ Meet and work with other defenders from around the world, and exchange with others in discussions on the HRDAP Community Space, meet each other during live webinars and in person course
 - ✓ Receive weekly newsletters informing defenders of what's coming up and learn more about other defenders taking part in the course
 - ✓ Integrate ISHR's Alumni Network – with regular updates on advocacy opportunities, calls to action, and other key communication related to the international human rights space
- e) Receive support and advocacy accompaniment to conduct advocacy during Human Rights Council sessions and other relevant meetings and opportunities.

3) Advocacy opportunities

ISHR will provide support and advocacy accompaniment to support defenders to engage (in-person and/or remotely) with key advocacy opportunities during the 53rd session (June 2023) and the 54th session (September 2023) of the UN Human Rights Council. Such opportunities include (please note that this list is neither exclusive nor exhaustive, the calendar is subject to change, you can check updates here):

- Reports by key Special Procedures mandates (UN experts) in the area of human rights defenders, including on the protection against violence and discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity; freedom of peaceful assembly and of association; violence against women and girls, its causes and consequences; on the issue of human rights and transnational corporations and other business enterprises (HRC53) and truth, justice, reparation and guarantees of non-recurrence (HRC54)

- Discussion of human rights situations and reports by experts on the situation of human rights in Eritrea, Sudan, Belarus, and on ongoing independent, international commission of inquiry on the Occupied Palestinian Territory, International Independent Expert Mechanism to Advance Racial Justice and Equality in Law Enforcement
- Discussion of human rights situations and reports or oral updates by the High Commissioner for Human Rights on the situation of human rights in Myanmar
- Annual debates and resolutions on the human rights of women, the adverse impacts of climate change on human rights (HRC53) and the right of indigenous people (HRC54)
- Upcoming periodic reviews of UN Treaty Bodies or follow up and/or inputs to General Comments and/or prospects for requests for urgent action, individual communications or inquiries (depending on the dates, relevance to the candidates topics, this might be part of a long-term advocacy plan)

4) Objectives

The objectives of the course fall into the following three broad categories:

- Supporting human rights defenders:
 - Develop human rights defenders' advocacy skills and expertise;
 - Enhance the ability of human rights defenders to engage strategically with the Human Rights Council and other international human rights mechanisms, as well as to develop diplomatic and civil society networks;
 - Improve the quality of NGO participation in the Human Rights Council, with a view to exert a greater influence on human rights foreign policy;
 - Share tools and knowledge, which human rights defenders can use to ensure their voice is central in international human rights decision-making;
 - Develop advocacy strategies for specific issues, and to ensure follow-up and action on the Human Rights Council's resolutions;
 - Increase human rights defenders' understanding of the short, mid and longer-term opportunities provided by human rights mechanisms in Geneva;
 - Explore and compare the benefits of engagement with the Human Rights Council, the Special Procedures, the OHCHR, the UPR and the Treaty Bodies, and examine how advocates can use them to bolster their work at the national level;
 - Develop strategies and lobbying techniques to increase the potential of human rights defenders' national and regional advocacy work.
- Influencing the substantive outcomes of international human rights mechanisms in a positive manner, including Human Rights Council resolutions and the work of UN thematic and country specific human rights experts (the Special Procedures).
- Creating a peer group of human rights defenders working on a diverse range of issues, identifying best practice in advocating for human rights change, and exchanging lessons and experiences in conducting international advocacy.

5) Participant profile

This programme is directed at experienced human rights defenders in non-governmental organisations, who have existing advocacy experience at the national level and some prior knowledge of the international human rights system.

ISHR supports, and promotes solidarity with and between, defenders working in the following areas or contexts, which we recognise as intersectional and interdependent:

1. Equality, dignity and non-discrimination: Such defenders may include migrant rights defenders, minority rights defenders, and anti-racism and Black, indigenous and people of colour (BIPOC) defenders.
2. Environmental justice and sustainability: Such defenders may include environmental HRDs (EHRDs), climate activists, corporate accountability activists.

3. International accountability for repression of Human Rights Defenders: Such defenders may include those working in highly restrictive or repressive environments.
4. Transparency and rule of law: Such defenders may include those working in deteriorating environments where there is a need to safeguard, or an opportunity to strengthen, democratic institutions and accountability mechanisms.

Final decisions regarding participants will be based upon the following criteria:

- Match between applicants' area of work/expertise and ISHR's strategic priorities and/or the opportunities provided by the 53rd and 54th Sessions of the Human Rights Council, as well as other UN mechanisms;
- Applicants' knowledge of human rights and their experience and willingness to engage with the UN human rights system and integrate it effectively into domestic level advocacy in a sustainable manner;
- The potential for a strategic and sustainable partnership between ISHR and the applicants' organisation;
- Whether applicants or their organisations have been recommended by a strategic partner;
- Applicants' experience of carrying out advocacy at the national and/or regional level;
- Applicants' advocacy responsibilities and role within their organisation;
- Applicants' willingness to contribute to peer education in a diverse group of participants;
- Applicants' demonstrated commitment to the principles of human rights, including the principles of universality and non-discrimination;
- Applicant from country/working on topic that is under-represented at the Human Rights Council;
- Communication, language and organisational skills.

The course will be carried out in English. ISHR cannot provide translation. While we are exploring some possibilities of having more opportunities in several languages to be more inclusive, we would like participants to be managing the English language in a way that they can communicate efficiently to demonstrate their advocacy objectives.

In identifying and selecting participants, ISHR will work closely with leading human rights organisations in each of the specific respective focus areas and across the world. To learn more about our focus, please consult our website.

ISHR will also commit to ensure diversity and a fair balance between gender identity or expression, or sex characteristics, geographical regions and focus work of the HRDs.

6) Course requirements

In order to complete HRDAP23 and receive a certification, participants will be required to:

- Complete approximately 5 hours of work/week, which includes completing pre-reading resources, including ISHR Academy modules and e-learning
- Take part actively and consistently in live webinars, Q&A sessions and forum discussions held online
- Be present and actively participate during the in-person session and prepare in advance necessary requirements
- Attend and participate in individual and group coaching sessions, which will be held via videoconference and in-person
- Develop and submit a set of personal advocacy objectives by submitting short individual assignments every 2 weeks, as well as a final submission at the end of the course which will outline the defender's "Advocacy Roadmap" (i.e theory of change).
- Prepare some advocacy tools/documents to support advocacy activities in Geneva.

As a great portion of the course will take place remotely, through online learning and communication platforms, participants will need to have a stable internet connection throughout the duration of the course. To benefit fully from the course, we highly recommend to follow online courses and webinars sessions on a laptop or computer, when it is possible to do, rather than on a mobile. Please indicate in your application form if you anticipate having internet connectivity/computer issues, and what solutions could help resolve these, which ISHR will evaluate and consider avenues to provide additional support. Finally, we strongly encourage participants' organisations to adhere and support their commitment to the programme, providing them with time and arrange schedules related to workload, to ensure they live a successful and impactful learning experience, which will in turn, benefit the organisation.

Defenders will receive a certificate of completion on the condition that they participate actively throughout the course and submit their assignments on time.

7) Application process

By midnight Geneva time on Tuesday 10 January 2023 each applicant must:

- Submit a completed application form available here (take some time to read carefully the requirements and collect information you need);
- Attach 2 letters of recommendation to your application form

The Smartsheet application form will indicate to you if your application has been submitted with success, and we encourage you to tick the box at the end of the 'send me a copy of my responses'.

We receive many applications each year and we could only select around 16 participants. This means that we cannot accept many worthy candidates. Your understanding is highly appreciated. Applications will ONLY be considered if the 2 letters have been attached to the application.

8) Cost

The tuition fee is 3000 Swiss Francs (CHF), and the average cost of travel, accommodation, meals, per diem and programme logistics administration is approximately 4000 CHF for the 10 days period.

The number and composition of the programme highly depends on ISHR total secured scholarships. We encourage you to seek third party funding to bear the cost mentioned. Participants who are unable to meet those costs are invited to request a full or partial scholarship (detailed at the end of the application form).

Full scholarships cover the whole cost of 7000 CHF, whilst partial scholarships may cover either the 3000 CHF tuition fee. Scholarships will be attributed at ISHR's discretion.

Finally, participants may need to secure funding to ensure stable and reliable internet access and connectivity throughout the duration of the distance learning course. Please also indicate in your application form if you anticipate having any issues related to internet/computer connectivity; what solutions may help resolve these, and whether you or a third-party will be able to bear the costs.

9) Timeline

Applications will be considered on a rolling basis starting immediately and applications will close at midnight Geneva time on Tuesday 10 January 2023. Participants will be advised in February on whether or not they have been selected.

Successful applicants will be contacted to confirm their participation in HRDAP23 and asked to complete a short pre-training survey, as well as signing a Term of Reference. They must ensure availability to organise with us logistical arrangements for their venue in June 2023 including visas, insurance etc. The Training and Advocacy Support Manager will contact you as well for a one-hour meeting. The course will start on Monday 17th April 2023.

Selected participants will need to ensure they secure the time and commitment to complete all of the course requirements, for the entire duration of the course (17 April – 7 June and in-person 14-24 June 2023).

Please direct any questions relating to the programme or on the application process to training@ishr.ch. Applications for HRDAP23 will be accepted until midnight Geneva time on Tuesday 10 January 2023.
